Calcot Park Golf Club

Calcot Park Golf Club is a historic and traditional members' golf club, opened in 1930. The Club sits within an exclusive private estate. Its parkland setting enhances the ambience of the course which is an undulating, traditional, parkland course rated as one of the top golf clubs in Berkshire. It was designed by the legendary Harry Colt in 1930 who also built, amongst others, Beaconsfield, Denham, Stoke Park, Sunningdale Old, Swinley Forest along with the East and West courses at the Wentworth Club in Surrey. Renowned for its superb, undulating greens, the 18-hole course, Par 70 course is 6,300 yards off the white tees and is acknowledged as a demanding, yet fair test of golf.
